AREA HIGHLIGHTS

Conroe and Montgomery will see commercial, residential and infrastructure development in 2016 as several projects are completed or break ground this year.

Major residential developments in Conroe, such as Grand Central Park, Stillwater and Fosters Ridge, continue to experience growth as the housing market expands. Meanwhile, Montgomery is seeing a similar influx of housing and commercial projects, such as a new Kroger Marketplace, along its eastern and western borders.

To meet the needs of incoming residents, the cities are improving roads and city services.

“We [have] a tremendous amount of housing development springing up all around us,” Conroe Mayor Webb Melder said. “We are addressing all of the things that come with a growing city in a fiscally responsible manner.”

Conroe Development Continues
Development in the city of Conroe continues as developers move forward with new projects as well as expansion of existing subdivisions.

Conroe accommodating development
A couple of major developments are expected to draw new residents and commercial projects to Conroe once they are complete, City Administrator Paul Virgadamo said.

The Conroe city budget continues to grow, largely because of a strong sales tax performance by the manufacturing, wholesale, general merchandise and food service sectors.

Grand Central Park, a 2,046-acre, mixed-use project developed by Johnson Development Corp., broke ground in Conroe in 2015. The property includes the 336 Marketplace, a 102-acre retail shopping center that is anticipated to open by the end of the year. The city also expects the Howard Hughes Corp. to develop a 2,000-acre master-planned community near I-45 and FM 1097 over the coming years.

Coupled with 635 new homes under construction and development of an additional 731 new home lots at eight new or existing subdivisions last year, population growth is expected to put a strain on city services, city officials said.

“Obviously more development brings more people and more traffic, so we have to deal with more pressure on the system,” Virgadamo said. “We believe we are prepared for the growth.”

To meet demand, Virgadamo said the city is expanding roads and services in rapidly developing areas. Two mobility projects on the city’s northern side will alleviate highly congested areas, and recently implemented municipal infrastructure has led to development interest in the city’s southern end, he said.

The city will expand Longmire Road from two to four lanes from FM 3083 to League Line Road in part because of the Howard Hughes development and growth in the nearby Water Crest on Lake Conroe subdivision. An additional fire station is being designed this year to serve the area as well, Virgadamo said.

This summer the city expects to complete a League Line Road extension from Hwy. 75 to the Conroe-North Houston Regional Airport. The extension cuts through some of the city’s largest economic drivers and will alleviate traffic congestion along FM 3083, city officials said.

“With the opening of League Line Road, that is going to give [motorists] direct access to the airport, the industrial park and the technology park,” Melder said. “That is going to be a game-changer.”

Near the city’s southern border, a new Houston Methodist hospital is under development at the intersection of Hwy. 242 and I-45, said Nancy Mikeska, Conroe assistant director of community development. The FM 1488 corridor is also seeing an influx of multifamily housing such as The Mansions Woodland and The Towers Woodland in Conroe, she said.

Although the housing market is on the rise, city officials said they are wary of the possible effect of low crude oil prices on the housing market. However, the Conroe city budget continues to grow, largely because of a strong sales tax performance by the manufacturing, wholesale, general merchandise and food service sectors.

“Things have slowed a bit, especially on the housing end, but it still looks good so hopefully we will continue to carry through,” Virgadamo said.

To meet the needs of incoming residents, the cities are improving roads and city services.

Information About Brokerage Services

Texas law requires all real estate license holders to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

TYPES OF REAL ESTATE LICENSE HOLDERS:

- A BROKER is responsible for all brokerage activities, including acts performed by sales agents sponsored by the broker.
- A SALES AGENT must be sponsored by a broker and works with clients on behalf of the broker.

A BROKER'S MINIMUM DUTIES REQUIRED BY LAW (A client is the person or party that the broker represents):

- Put the interests of the client above all others, including the broker's own interests;
- Inform the client of any material information about the property or transaction received by the broker;
- Answer the client's questions and present any offer to or counter-offer from the client; and
- Treat all parties to a real estate transaction honestly and fairly.

A LICENSE HOLDER CAN REPRESENT A PARTY IN A REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION:

AS AGENT FOR OWNER (SELLER/LANDLORD): The broker becomes the property owner's agent through an agreement with the owner, usually in a written listing to sell or property management agreement. An owner's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the owner of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent or subagent by the buyer or buyer's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BUYER/TENANT: The broker becomes the buyer/tenant's agent by agreeing to represent the buyer, usually through a written representation agreement. A buyer's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the buyer of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent by the seller or seller's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BOTH - INTERMEDIARY: To act as an intermediary between the parties the broker must first obtain the written agreement of each party to the transaction. The written agreement must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. A broker who acts as an intermediary:

- Must treat all parties to the transaction impartially and fairly;
- May, with the parties' written consent, appoint a different license holder associated with the broker to each party (owner and buyer) to communicate with, provide opinions and advice to, and carry out the instructions of each party to the transaction.
- Must not, unless specifically authorized in writing to do so by the party, disclose:
  - that the owner will accept a price less than the written asking price;
  - that the buyer/tenant will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer; and
  - any confidential information or any other information that a party specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose, unless required to do so by law.

AS SUBAGENT: A license holder acts as a subagent when aiding a buyer in a transaction without an agreement to represent the buyer. A subagent can assist the buyer but does not represent the buyer and must place the interests of the owner first.

TO AVOID DISPUTES, ALL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN YOU AND A BROKER SHOULD BE IN WRITING AND CLEARLY ESTABLISH:

- The broker's duties and responsibilities to you, and your obligations under the representation agreement.
- Who will pay the broker for services provided to you, when payment will be made and how the payment will be calculated.

LICENSE HOLDER CONTACT INFORMATION: This notice is being provided for information purposes. It does not create an obligation for you to use the broker's services. Please acknowledge receipt of this notice below and retain a copy for your records.
