TRUSSVILLE, AL

In 2005, Trussville was named the 56th Most Livable City in the USA by CNN Money. The banner of the article read – Some towns have it all. Great schools, a thriving job market, safe streets, plenty to do. The best offer one thing more: A reason to go home again. A tour of Trussville and all of its neighborhoods, schools, businesses, and shopping centers, gives an immediate understanding of the high quality of life Trussville creates for is citizens. It has lovingly been called "Mayberry" for its community feeling of knowing your neighbors and people sharing the same goal for their hometown.

Trussville is known for its churches, schools and now has over 75 restaurants to suit your taste. New retail stores with the hard to find items are springing up in Trussville to make for an interesting shopping experience. If barbecue is your wish, we have several outstanding tastes that will please anyone. Maybe you love to shop for antiques, if so, we can suggest a large antique mall right in downtown Trussville.

Trussville has four major shopping centers with nationally known anchors in each of them. Trussville has four local hotels in our city with a number of restaurants surrounding them or located nearby. Our close proximity to Birmingham with a safe, low crime area, makes us your stop for shopping, shelter and food. We have three interstates nearby, I-59, I-459, and I-20.
