The map displays the Dallas metropolitan area with census tracts outlined and color-coded by population. The highest population densities (blue) are concentrated in the central urban core, particularly around the downtown area. The population decreases as one moves outwards, with green and red areas representing suburban and exurban regions. The map includes major highways such as I-10, I-35, and I-67, as well as city names like Dallas, Fort Worth, and Irving. A scale bar at the bottom left indicates a distance of 2 miles.
