Grand Chute is located in Wisconsin's Fox Cities region, a metropolitan area of approximately 400,000 residents. The area is located within a 3.5-hour drive north of Chicago; a 1.5-hour drive north of Milwaukee; and a 20-minute drive south of Green Bay, home of Lambeau Field. Within a 45-minute commute from its epicenter, the area boasts a population of almost 735,000 people and 404,000 workers.

Nestled along the Fox River and Lake Winnebago, the Fox Cities are comprised of 19 communities – the largest being the City of Appleton – and is one of the state's fastest growing areas. The region is known and branded as "Wisconsin's best shopping destination." In addition to shopping, the Fox Cities is the proud home of notable school systems, colleges, and nationally ranked healthcare systems. It also offers a vibrant arts & culture scene, a year-round calendar of exciting events, one-of-a-kind museums, and fantastic outdoor recreation.

The area is also a premier place for business. Founded on a tradition of paper-making and printing, the Fox Cities remains a powerhouse for world-class manufacturers and corporations representing several business sectors. The region's largest employers include Kimberly-Clark, Gulfstream, Oshkosh Corporation, Sargento Cheese, Thrivent Financial, Bemis, Plexus, Nestlé, among other notable firms. Employers take advantage of low cost of operations, quality infrastructure, close proximity to major markets, and a highly-skilled and well-educated workforce.
