Millennials & Nearby Urban Neighborhoods

JACKSONVILLE MILLENNIAL STATISTICS

Jacksonville's riverside sub-market has had the highest percentage growth in millennials over the last five years of anywhere in the state.

Jacksonville was voted as the #5 most popular city to which millennials are moving. The data was cultivated from the U.S. Census Bureau showing the number of people between ages 20 and 34 who moved to the city was more than 6,350, less than 200 millennials from the #4 spot.

As millennials continue to shift the economic and cultural landscape of Jacksonville, their influence is expected to supplement projects by city officials who look to double Downtown's population within the next few years.
