PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

The Ivey Delph Apartments—aka 13-19 Hamilton Terrace—is a prestigious six-story elevator multifamily property located in the Hamilton Heights Historic District.

The property was designed in 1948 by the renowned architect Vertner Woodson Tandy and developed by Dr. Walter Ivey Delph, a prominent Harlem doctor. Recognized as "the first large-scale project [built] by and for African Americans," the Ivey Delph Apartments was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 2005. Its architect, Vertner Woodson Tandy, was a graduate from the Cornell School of Architecture in 1908 and was the first African American architect registered in New York. In addition to the Ivey Delph Apartments, he gained national prominence in designing Harlem's Saint Philips Church between 1910-1911. It was named as a New York City Landmark in 1993 and was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 2008. His influential design is also recognized in the construction of Madam CJ Walker's estate "Villa Lewaro," which was completed in 1918 and named as a National Treasure in 2014.

13-19 Hamilton Terrace is a 79' wide, beige-brick and concrete building that spans approximately 49,616 square feet. Its 78-units consist of 55 studio, 17 one-bedroom and 6 two-bedroom apartments. The unit mix consists of 15 free market apartments, 33 apartments have preferential rents and 30 units are rent stabilized. The property also has a superintendent's unit in the cellar and an expansive amount of unused cellar space that can potentially be a valuable amenity space. Notably, the property's Moderne post-war design contributed to the building's efficient unit layouts units and apartments on the B/C line enjoy spacious balconies. The building is well maintained by a professional management company, and ownership recently installed both a new duel-fuel boiler and new intercom systems. Significant additional upside can be realized through unit renovations, common area upgrades, major capital improvements and better utilization of the significant amount open cellar space with amenities like storage units, a bike room or exercise studio.

Located on a quaint, tree-lined street that is home to architecturally distinct brownstones, The Ivey Delph Apartments is surrounded by some of Northern Manhattan's most significant landmarks and institutions. In addition to being located just down the street from The Hamilton Grange National Memorial, the property is a short walk from City College, the new Columbia University expansion, St. Nicholas Park, Riverbank State Park, and Jackie Robinson Park. Convenient transportation is provided by the A/C/B/D subway lines at West 145th Street and the 1 train at Broadway and West 145th Street.

Another unique and valuable feature of this property is its status as a National Landmark, which enables investors to receive 40% tax credits (20% federal and 20% state) for qualifying capital improvements made to the asset.

In addition to offering strong cash flow and implicit rental upside, The Ivey Delph Apartments' historical and architectural significance make it a legacy-worthy addition to any portfolio.
